2.0 BACKGROUND

The JAS programme seeks to build a progressive social movement boldly challenging the deep structures affecting the realization of SRHR in Uganda. The programme addresses a range of issues that affect advocacy for the realization of Sexual and Reproductive Health & Rights (SRHR) in Uganda and some of the notable issues include: the retrogression in policy development in SRHRs; disjoined CSOs working on SRHR; limited appreciation of the broader context of issues on SRHR amongst key stakeholders; the invisible powers opposing the progressive realization of SRHRs in Uganda; limited evidence to advocate for the realization of SRHR in Uganda; negative social, cultural and religious norms; and the archaic legislation impacting on the realization of SRHR in Uganda. This programme provides an opportunity to work on both visible (non-controversial and safer issues) and invisible SRR issues (hidden and contested issues) by different partners. The JAS programme is hosted by CEHURD working with nineteen (19) organizations focusing on these thematic areas; HIV/AIDS, Key population programming, young People; safe abortion rights, refugees, women and gender and, access to medicines and commodities.
